PRODUCTS COMPANY ASKS FOR CHANGE IN HIGHWAY LOCATION

Confer with Commissioners on Re-location of Road
Through Stockdale

TO HOLD ANOTHER CONFERENCE

Representatives of the Pittsburgh Steel Products company, one of whose mills is located at Allenport, and which is now under state of expansion, called on the county commissioners at Washington on Friday, relative to a proposed change in the Speers-Coal Center road where it runs through the Steel Products' property. Under the plans of the State for the improvement of the road the old road would remain where it is.

The products company desires to have it shifted to the west, so that the tracks of the Pittsburgh Railways company could be changed to the route of the old road. That would give the products company more room for railroad yards.

The proposed new location would require considerable grading and the state could not see why it should go to that additional expense when they maintain that the old location was suitable for the improvement. The object of the conference on Friday with the commissioners was to see if the county might not assist the products company in the additional expense incurred in changing the location of the road.

The proposition was fully discussed, but no decision was reached by the commissioners. It was agreed, however, that the commissioners and company arrange another meeting with the highway department at Harrisburg, at which time it is believed that a satisfactory adjustment can be made.

Those who represented the products company at the meeting were W. A. Reitz, John Reitz, Park H. Martin and J. C. Boyd.

ENGINEERS REFUSE TO ACCEPT REDUCTION

A number of engineers on towboats on the Monongahela river are reported to have quit their jobs on account of the proposed twenty per cent reduction in wages. These employees have been receiving $276.00 per month, as well as board and lodging, for the past year or more, and steamboat operatives believed that on account of the slump in industrial activities, which has been apparent for months, a wage reduction should take place. However, the engineers appear to have taken a stand against the reduction and say they will refuse to accept it. Captains and pilots, however, have made no objections to the new wage scale, which becomes operative on the 15th instant. The wages of the engineers under the new wage scale are $220 per month.

NEW SHIP-BY-TRUCK
CONCERN FINANCED

A new "ship-by-truck" transportation company, financed in Pittsburgh as the "Rainbow Lines," will start operating on its first division between the city and Greensburg and Uniontown in a few days, it is announced. The officials of the company say that it will operate within a radius of 70 miles of Pittsburgh on eight divisions, one of which will include Charleroi, the service being especially adapted to solving the short haul problem.

FINAL GAME LOST BY CHARLEROI HIGH

The Charleroi high school quintet met defeat at the hands of the strong McKeesport aggregation last evening, it being the latter's eighteenth consecutive victory. The attendance was the largest of the season, there being about fifteen hundred persons present. It certainly was a grand sight to see the spacious gymnasium so completely filled, which was a compliment to the reputation of the Charleroi team as a drawing card. Music was furnished prior to the commencement of play, by the high school orchestra, of eight pieces; and during the intermission, by a sextet of male voices, consisting of high school students. McKeesport has virtually completed its schedule, and Charleroi hastens to extend congratulations to both mentor and players on the splendid success which has marked the work of the team. The crucial games between the leading teams of the several divisions are yet to come, but Charleroi supporters of the game are ready to pin their faith to the Tube City boys, feeling satisfied that they will surely show their heels to the other contenders.

The home team played a beautiful game—one free from any semblance of roughness. The boys played like a well-constructed machine. They were especially effective in their floor work, and their fourteen field goals marked well their proficiency in this regard. The long, lean and lanky Ramsay was a tower of strength at center. He played a fine game, and managed to cage four field goals. Captain Buchanan's work stamped him a player of unusual excellence. He rendered material aid in his team's victory, scoring eighteen fouls out of twenty-four chances, and having also three field goals to his credit. Sharpe, his side partner, was also much in evidence, caging the sphere four times, while Evans had two ringers and Vukmanic one. McKeesport certainly played championship ball.

From the moment Referee Baird started play, until the end of the second quarter, the game was a beautiful one to witness. Dazzling plays followed each other with rapidity, and the spectators were kept in a state of feverish excitement. During the remainder of the game, however,

Forum Holds Discussion on White Way Lighting

Street Lighting, especially White Way Lighting, was the subject of much discussion last evening at the Forum meeting held in the municipal building. Ninety five men were in attendance at this meeting, which constitutes more than one-fifth of the total membership. As Forums usually go, this was a very good percentage, and remarkable interest was shown. Attorney Guy Moffitt presided in a masterful way. Mr. W. H. Milliken, chairman of the committee on Street Lighting, made an introductory speech in which he outlined and carefully defined the work of the committee; following which Mr. Lovett, of the General Electric company appeared on the program. He estimated the cost of the installation, complete to turning on the switch, at from two and one-half to three dollars per running foot. He recommended that we ought to have about a six hundred candle power light and that this would be equivalent to about 347 watts. He also made the statement that the density of the globe absorbs about 34 per cent of the light. It was also explained that by means of a special tool, which has recently been invented, the matter of placing the wiring underground could be very easily accomplished and would only take a short time, without digging up much street. His recommendation was that the lights be placed about 110 feet apart and staggered.

Mr. Galbreath spoke of the standard of holding the lights. He said the posts would be guaranteed for 20 years, and that if they should be broken by automobile collision or otherwise, the entire post could be replaced for three dollars. He had a model on display 11 feet, 2 inches high which would cost about fifty dollars.

Mr. Davidson, of the McBeth-Ex-McKeesport showed his claim to being the class of Section V in indisputable form, scoring also at will. The Charleroi boys looked equally as good in the earlier part of the game, as did their opponents; but they were unable to maintain their splendid work and, as a consequence, McKeesport veritably ran wild, scoring ten points in the third quarter and fifteen in the fourth, while Charleroi had to be content with but four counters in the same time. This was really no more than might have been expected, because the latter team has not held a practice game in two weeks. Naturally, no body of players can follow such a course and expect to be in the proper condition to withstand the rigors of a hard fought game. Wagner and Daniel played particularly well for Charleroi, each having two field goals, while Wagner really excelled Buchanan in foul throwing, having thirteen out of eighteen chances. Both Charleroi players might have been given another basket apiece, but Deferee Baird said not, although, in Daniel's case, his play had been started before the referee's whistle blew. The remaining members of the team rendered good service. The summary:

Charleroi—23. McKeesport—46.
Wagner F Buchanan
Daniel F Sharpe
Burnett C Ramsay
Brown G Evans

ans Glass company, spoke of judging the town by its lighting system. He said that 38 per cent more crime is committed in those districts not well lighted than in those well lighted, and also that good lighting would increase the sales of merchants. It ought to be emphasized more, and more that good lighting is one of the best forms of advertising and that since most men spend money for advertising, at least a part of the money they put into lighting might be considered as money spent for advertising. Mr. Davidson said that the object which we are trying to reach in lighting, is the heat of the sun which is six thousand degrees. He also said that he would make the posts thirteen and one-half feet high, and that the absorption, according to his test was fifteen to twenty per cent, and yet the glass had a good thickness. He stated we ought to have a glass that is a good diffuser, and has mechanical strength.

Mr. Barnhart believes that we ought to have a standard, bearing probably five lights, and he brought with him some interesting designs made by himself, which will later be put on display.

The matter of getting lights along the property of the Pennsylvania Railway will be taken up with that company immediately, and it is believed they will be one of the first to respond, as they have done in other places along this line.

The Street Lighting committee will hold its next regular meeting on Monday evening, March 7th, in the Municipal building. This committee consists of W. H. Milliken, chairman, R. L. Barnhart, Michael Rosenbloom, D. G. Callaghan and George Leitch. It is important that every member of this committee attend this meeting on Monday evening.

SUNDAY SCHOOL TEACHERS CONFERENCE

The Sunday School teachers of the Washington Avenue Presbyterian church met for conference and instruction Friday evening in the Sunday school room of the church. Dr. F. C. Stahlman, the superintendent of the school, was in charge of the program, and the introduction was 3 reels of pictures on "The Life of Joseph," by Ira Howard. The addresses were along the line of aggressive Sunday school work, and were well received by the teachers. Rev. John R. Burson spoke on "The Laws of Teaching." Richard D. Hill spoke on "Our Future Needs." Dr. J. W. Manon, the President of the County Sabbath School Association, bore greetings from the county, and it was brought out that the school had present last Sunday 421 members.

Dr. F. C. Stahlman portrayed the lights and shadows of a superintendent's life, and thanked the teachers for their generous support. Miss Etta Work gave a reading that was enjoyed. The closing was a social hour during which time the recent conference in Chicago was discussed.

STATE MAY BUILD ITS OWN ROADS

That the State Highway department may go into the road building business with its own equipment and men, was indicated on Friday at Oil City, in a letter from Highway Commissioner Lewis E. Sadler to the chamber of commerce of that city. In the letter Commissioner Sadler states that at the direction of Governor Sproul, route 233, from Oil City to Pittsburgh, will be reauthorized, after bids considered too high had been rejected last week. If the bid is too high Sadler writes that the governor has directed him to "put our own construction force in at once, and start work as early as possible in the season. We must conserve every dollar that is available for road purposes in order that the governor's program may be carried out," concludes Mr. Sadler.

Completion of the Charleroi Southern railroad will make possible the development of thousands of acres of coal lying along that route, which crosses a section of the county heretofore without railroad facilities. It is generally reported that the road is to be laid this summer, and supporting these statements is the fact that large quantities of ties have already been unloaded at Van Eman station, near Canonsburg, where the road forms a junction with the Charliers Valley.

Reports that the development of the coal fields between Marianna and Hackney in the Ten Mile valley, which have been current for some weeks, are supported by the West Penn Power company actually beginning to work on a high tension line which will start at Braddock station on the narrow gauge and end at Marianna. It is contended that these activities would not be placed under way unless a sufficient amount of business was in sight to justify the expenditure.

When Texas Democrats make presents to a Republican President-elect the millennium doesn't seem far off.

New York is protesting against having so many fat policemen; but stout cops have their uses. They can sit on the crooks and hold them down after the lean and agile cops have caught them.

If it is true that there is a movement on foot in Germany looking toward the repatriation of the Hohenzollerns then more than ever does it seem a hopeless task to attempt any approximation of the German mental attitude.

Many a person has wondered, probably, if a host would be liable for damages if his guest suffered injuries from slipping upon an oriental rug covering a polished floor. The Wisconsin Supreme Court deserves thanks for settling the question. The guest must take his chances.

PUT ONE OVER ON BUTCHER

Incident Proves That Art of Shopping Has Not Been Altogether Thrown in Discard.

A dumpling-loving woman stepped into a grocery store at the meat market, after she had bought several pounds of meat, she asked:

"Have you any soup stock that I could use for soup stock?"

"Just the thing," responded the obliging clerk as he took up a long shankbone and knuckle and balanced it on his left hand.

"What is it worth?" asked the woman.

"Just a half-dollar," said he.

"It is such a large piece, would you mind cutting it at the joint?"

"Sure, I will," he replied.

After cutting off the large knuckle he again balanced the long, slim shankbone on his hand and said:

"You may have this for 40 cents."

The woman looked at the piece for a moment, then at the knuckle and said:

"Is that piece you cut off worth only 10 cents?"

The clerk hesitatingly replied:

"Yes, madam."

"All right," said the woman, "I'll take that knuckle."

The clerk waited a moment, looked at the woman, then actually laughed aloud. But he was game and willfully wrapped up the 10-cent soup bone.

NO WONDER THEY LAUGHED

American Soldier in Paris Had Made a Small Mistake in Copying the Street Name.

During the war, while I was on leave of absence in Paris, relates a returned soldier, I decided to take a walk alone. I thought it advisable to copy down the name of the street in which I was staying, so I wrote down some words printed on the sidewalk.

When I was ready to return I found that I could not locate the street where my hotel was, so I approached a woman, showed her what I had written in my book, and tried to learn from her where the place was. She laughed and said something in French, which, of course, I did not understand, and passed on. A number of times I did the same thing, and every time I stopped laughing, and passed on until a man said in English "What is it you want?"

Delighted to find that I had discovered one person who spoke English, I said, "That is the name of the street where I am staying, and I am lost. Will you please direct me?"

"You haven't written down a street name," said the man, "but 'post no bills'."

Skidding Is Overcome.

Attention is called in a circular report from Sydney, Australia, to a new invention of a front-drive vehicle which entirely prevents skidding. A test over 16,000 miles of rough road has been made, it is claimed, with no signs of wear. The front wheels are pivoted in the center, which enables the steering of the car with much greater ease than in the rear-wheel-driven machine. The device is now attached to an old worn British car which, prior to the attachment of the device, weighed 32 cwt., with a speed of thirty-eight miles an hour traveling fifteen miles on one gallon of gasoline. After alteration and application of the front drive device, the car weighs 35 cwt., has a speed of forty-five miles an hour and will go seventeen and one-half miles on a single gallon of gasoline.

Tuberculosis in France.

That of 368 anti-tuberculosis dispensaries in France only ten per cent are situated in Paris was hailed as a "happy omen" at the second international conference. Only a few organizations were actively engaged in anti-tuberculosis work in France before the war. Today, largely through the activity of the Rockefeller Foundation, in addition to the dispensaries mentioned, there are 10,000 sanatoriums for tuberculous patients; many hospitals have provided isolation wards; the boarding out of anaemic children in rural homes has been organized on a large scale, and there is national co-operation of all the agencies concerned.

British Soldiers and New Roads.

Some seven and a half million dollars worth of new road construction has been taken in hand by various British cities to provide work for the unemployed. According to a report of British Information Service of the War Trust company, the ministry of transportation contributes one-half of the cost—probably out of funds accumulated for that purpose for many years by the development commission.

INDIANS ALL OF SAME RACE

Differences in Type No Greater Than Among the Whites, According to Scientist.

The American aborigines from the Hudson bay and Alaska to the southern tip of the continent are all members of the same race, according to Dr. Frederick Morsen of New York and Pasadena, said to be more familiar with the American Indian than any other white man.

Doctor Morsen declared the differences in type found in Indians of the various parts of the continent are becoming manifest among us today. He recognizes people from Maine as typical of that section of the country, and says a southerner or westerner can be easily distinguished by one familiar with the types of American people.

"The aborigines of America are all red men," Doctor Morsen said. "The Eskimos have flatter noses and oily skins, due to their diet and the climate."

He found corresponding differences among the Indians of the Eastern coast, the West, Mexico and other parts of the country, but other indications prove the distinguishing characteristics were the product of food, environment and methods of living.

Mentioning the treatment the red men have received from the whites, Doctor Morsen said: "The Pilgrims embarked on Plymouth rock and fell upon their knees. Then they fell upon the aborigines and we've been falling on them ever since."

RULER HAD PRACTICAL MIND

Like Our Own Politicians, Sultan Preferred Any Eventuality to Being Forgotten.

At Trengganu (Malay Peninsula) the native sultan welcomed me and I spent several days with him, telling him what was happening in the world and discussing his problems. The problems were largely financial. He owed some money, and, knowing that he had something in the treasury, I asked why he did not pay his debts.

He thought for a time and then replied: "Well, I'll tell you. If I pay those people, they will forget about the sultan of Trengganu. If I don't pay them, they'll never forget me."

The conversation turned to the subject of prisoners. On my way to the palace I had passed the cages where the prisoners were kept. Many of them were starving to death, for unless their friends or family cared for them they got no food.

"Why don't you feed them?" I asked.

"Why should I?" he replied. "If I feed them, my whole country will want to go to jail."—Asia Magazine.

Samuel Untermyer, the brilliant New York lawyer, who probed the building question, said in a discussion about honor:

"Business men are honorable; or they don't get on. Even big business men are honorable. Of course, few business men are as punctilious about a point of honor, though, as Honest John Jones was."

"Honest John Jones, you know, once stole on tiptoe, fountain pen in hand, into the empty waiting room of his hotel. He stepped stealthily up to an inkwell, advanced his fountain pen towards the ink, then drew back with a start."

"No," he groaned, striking his brow with his palm. "No, I cannot fill my fountain pen with the hotel's ink—it would not be honorable."

War of Science on Diseases.

Of the diseases of men and animals known to be infectious, Dr. Walter E. King counts up 33 having organisms not yet discovered that are believed to be so small as to pass through the customary filters. These include chicken-pox, rabies, dengue fever, small-pox, trachoma, measles, poliomyelitis, scarlet fever, typhus and mumps, and yellow fever was in the list until Doctor Noguchi's recent discovery of the organism. As in the case of tuberculosis, knowledge of the organism does not always bring a direct remedy. On the other hand, steps toward eradicating yellow fever, through the destruction of the germ-carrying mosquito, were made possible while the disease organism was still unknown.

Wireless Waves Fire Oil Wells.

In recent years there have been a number of oil well fires the origin of which has never been explained. The fires started at such times when the sites were deserted and could not have been done through any human agency, and in this connection R. M. McLain of Desdemona, Tex., has come to the fore with a remarkable theory that the firing is done by wireless waves gathered by the metal entering into the construction of the derricks. This gentleman has observed a number of oil well fires which could be explained in no other way.

Reassurance.

"Look here," Commanded the new patron of the Dizzy Hour luncheon.

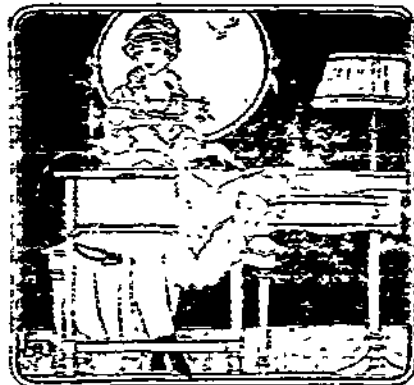

"When do I get that order?"

"Control yourself," snapped Romeo the waiter. "The cooks are on strike, but I think they'll come to an agreement 'most any hour now."—American Legion Weekly.

COLDS RELIEVED QUICK

Turpo Gives Immediate Relief in All Cold Troubles and Congestion. Mothers Use it to Prevent Development of Children's Colds.

For several winters a large number of people, especially mothers of small children, have prevented the serious effects from neglected colds by using Turpo—the new Turpentine Ointment which, applied externally, drives a cold away overnight, relieves congestion of all kinds, and has valuable antiseptic properties.

There is nothing mysterious or secret about Turpo—it is a scientific combination of distilled Turpentine, Camphor and Menthol, in a salve or ointment which, being readily absorbed through the skin, carries the recognized and beneficial effects of these medicines to the root of the trouble. Turpo, applied up the nostrils at the first sign of a cold, relieves congestion and headache, clears the air passages, checking the cold at the very root, and prevents its developing into more serious trouble.

Pneumonia and influenza may develop from a neglected cold—especially in children, and careful mothers are now using Turpo as a standard household application, to be used at the first sign of "sniffles" in the child. For severe colds, Turpo rubbed on the throat and chest, or on the skin, clearing up the skin or the clothing.

Turpo is also of value to give relief in croup, hacking cough, sore throat, and as an antiseptic application for cuts, wounds and burns. Ask your doctor or druggist about Turpo—they will confirm that it is a good, honest remedy.

Sold in white opal jars with the orange and black label, 30c and 60c. Your money will be cheerfully refunded if you are not entirely satisfied.

To the Public, the Answer of Mrs. Rene Bioux.

That Mr. Rene Bioux need not fear of his wife, Mrs. Rosilia Bioux, making any debts for him. Ever since I married him I worked to pay my debts and am still working at the American Sheet & Tinplate Company, Monessen. Who paid your debts? I did. I sent you the store book to pay and you sent it back to me to pay YOUR debt at the store of Mr. Eugene Sance, 201 Shady Avenue. By the way, wherever I go or whatever I do, I do not use the name of Mrs. Rosilia Bioux, but my parents' name, Miss Rosilia Pensis. 230-tf Mrs. Rosilia Pensis.

MILLERS Fashion SHOP
528 Fallowfield Ave., Charleroi, Pa.

The original diamond ring of Mary Queen of Scots, upon which are engraved the arms of England, Scotland and Ireland, quartered, and which was produced in evidence at the trial of the unfortunate Mary as a proof of her pretensions to the crown of England, was once in the possession of a certain Mr. Blackard, one of the lords of the admiralty. The history of this ring is curious. It descended from Mary to her grandson, Charles I, who gave it on the scaffold to Archbishop Juxon for his son, Charles II, who, in his troubles, pawned it in Holland for $1,500, where it was bought by Governor Yale and sold at his sale for $1,000, presumably for the Pretender. It afterward came into possession of the duke of Argyll, and probably from him to the family of Mr. Blackard. At the last sale of his effects it was said to have been purchased for the prince regent.

Unlettered Presidents.

At least one of our Presidents, possibly two, never went to any kind of a school. The father of Andrew Johnson died when the lad was five years old, and his mother could not spare the money to educate him. This condition of poverty caused Andrew to be apprenticed to a tailor. He worked long hours and hard. One day a man brought a book to the shop and recited many selections that it contained. Andrew's ambition was stirred. With the man's help he learned the alphabet. But he made no real progress until his marriage. His wife read to him as he plied the needle. She helped him to learn to read and write. She was his school. Largely through her careful, patient instruction he was enabled to become the mayor of the town in which they lived.

Nobody Wants Bungler.

There's no place in progress for the bungler. The business man gets rid of the bungler as soon as he can. No organization wants the bungler on its rolls. Furthermore there's little excuse for the presence of such a nuisance. Above all there is no excuse for you to mess things up. You will do that occasionally, in spite of yourself, because you are falsely reported, misunderstood or over-zealous. But you don't have to make a regular thing of it. Correct the past by a more careful present and you will be wiser through the mistake. So toe in, my boy, and make good. You have the world before you and your friends are waiting to help you celebrate the victory.—Critt.

Making Joss Sticks.

The composition of the candles called joss sticks, which are used in all the religious ceremonies of Buddhism, has long remained a mystery the preparation of the sticks being entrusted to certain persons chosen from a limited class. Not long ago, however, there was learned the manner of making joss sticks in Indo-China. A stem of bamboo is rolled into a preparation containing 14 different odoriferous drugs, two of which are significant, as showing a knowledge of chemical and physical properties. These are acornite, which serves to protect the sticks against the attacks of rats and mice, and camphor, which causes them to burn steadily without being periodically extinguished.

Radium is a metal that is described as having a white metallic luster. It has been isolated only once or twice, and few persons have seen it. It is ordinarily obtained from its ores in the form of sulphate, chloride or bromide, according to the United States geological survey, Department of the Interior, and it is in the form of these salts that it is usually sold and used. These are all white or nearly white substances, whose appearance is no more remarkable than that of common salt or baking powder. Tubes containing radium salts glow mostly because they include impurities which the radiations from the radium cause to give light. Radium minerals are very rarely, if ever, luminescent.

Sandalwood Long Prized.

Sandalwood is the product principally of the native state of Mysore, India, and the district of Coorg. Due to the development of the sandalwood oil extracting industry, the exportation of the wood from Madras has steadily declined, while that of the oil has increased. Sandalwood is the most famous of all scented woods. Its use for perfumery and incense dates back thousands of years. The later Greeks regarded it as one of their greatest luxuries, and no festivities were complete without it. Sandalwood figures prominently in religious ceremonies and burial rites in China and other oriental countries.

Nightmares Have Meaning

Dreams are made up of symbolic notions which are, however, easily deciphered, for symbols mean the same thing all over the world and have always meant the same thing. A nightmare is nothing but a dream so symbolical that we cannot understand its meaning and the more it conjures up frightens us. As soon as a sufferer from frequent nightmares, however, learns to interpret them and understand their meaning, he ceases to have them or to be frightened by them.

Hypocrite Betrays Himself.

Usually it is easy enough to feel whether there is a sound human heart behind the written or the spoken word. Fine phrases and exalted sentiments seldom mask the hollowiness of the hypocrite.—Violet Huo.

NEWKIRK MISSIONARY SPOKE AT MEETING

A most gracious and helpful service was held at the M. E. church last evening. The large auditorium was well filled. Mrs. Anna V. Potter, who has charge of the Newkirk mission at Bentleyville, read from the New Testament the account of our Lord's temptation. Then she spoke of our temptations to sin and to refuse Jesus Christ. She appealed to both young and old to yield themselves and their lives to our Lord. From the sabbath school the altar of prayer was filled with boys and girls whose hearts were touched by the quiet, earnest appeal made. Tomorrow communion will be observed in connection with the evangelistic services.

WOMEN WHO CANNOT WORK

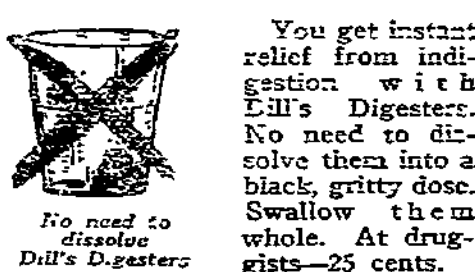

Read Mrs. Corley's Letter and Benefit by Her Experience

Edmund, S. C. — "I was run down with nervousness and female trouble and suffered every month. I was not able to do any work and tried a lot of medicine, but got no relief. I saw your medicine advertised in a little book that was thrown in my door, and I had not taken two bottles of Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound before I could see it was helping me. I am keeping house now and am able to do all of my work. I cannot say enough for your medicine. It has done more for me than any doctor. I have not paper enough to tell you how much it has done for me and for my friends. You may print this letter if you wish." — ELIZABETH C. CORLEY, care of A. P. Corley, Edmund, S. C.

Ability to stand the strain of work is the privilege of the strong and healthy, but how our hearts ache for the weak and sickly women struggling with their daily rounds of household duties, with backaches, headaches, nervousness and almost every movement brings a new pain. Why will not the mass of letters from women all over this country, which we have been publishing, convince such women that Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound will help them just as surely as it did Mrs. Corley?

F. J. Johns the druggist sells a preparation called SIM-CO SALVE that will afford more real relief in one night for croup, cold on the lungs, etc., than all the old-fashioned internal emetics and syrups you have ever tried. It is an active antiseptic, saline that reaches both the outside, and the inside of the lungs that is why it is so unusually effective. It is the new antiseptic saline to kill the germ and at the same time is soothing, healing and refreshing to the fevered child or adult. The same saline that is penetrating from without by application to the chest and throat, is reaching the inside by inhalation at the same time and without the use of patent inhalers or expense other than the trifle paid for the saline, only 30c and besides F. J. Johns sells it on the "money-back if it fails" plan.

SIM-CO SALVE does what home ability can never do; there are other remedies, but what remedy, for these ailments, can compare with SIM-CO SALVE, which reaches the inside of the lungs? F. J. Johns is authorized to return your money if it doesn't promptly relieve coughs, cold on the things or in the head, clogged air passages, sore throat and similar affections. It is safe, easy to use and dependable and costs such a trifling sum. While SIM-CO SALVE is considered the best application for attacks of this nature it is pure and harmless the name SIM-CO applied to medicines is your assurance of quality, purity, uniformity of strength and accuracy in compounding; it is used as an abbreviation or nickname for the name Simpson Co. The active principals of SIM-CO SALVE are derived largely from plant life. It is very healing and antiseptic, and the circular around the bottle gives ample directions for its use, not only for throat and lung troubles, but as a liniment for sprains, sore muscles, rheumatism, neuralgia, lame back or other similar affections. F. J. Johns.

Go down to F. J. Johns drug store and get a jar today and try it and then tell us which is the best ointment on the market today. Sold at 30c, 60c and $1.00 per jar. If your druggist does not keep it, order from the Wm. M. Simpson Drug Co., Wholesale Druggists, Wilkesburg Station, Pittsburg, Pa.
